Present perfect simple

I have never seen such a good movie!

Present perfect simple

Last week when I was going to school, somebody stole my wallet. Nobody has found it since that time. Unfortunately, this theft has triggered a few unpleasant situations.

On the first day, I couldn't go back home because I didn't have money for a bus ticket and my travelcard. My parents have had to take me to school since then– I still need to get a new travelcard.

However, the worst thing about it is that I couldn't go to the cinema last week because I had a ticket in my wallet, too! I haven't seen the movie yet, my parents don't want to give me money for a new ticket. I hope the thief enjoyed the film.

I really wish this doesn't happen ever again.

Present perfect simple

1. Take a look at these sentences. What is the difference?

1. Last week when I was going to school somebody stole my wallet.
2. Nobody has found it since that time.
3. This theft has triggered a few unpleasant situations.
4. On the first day, I couldn't go back home, I didn't have money for a bus ticket and my travelcard.
5. My parents have had to take me to school since then.
6. I couldn't go to the cinema last week, I had a ticket in my wallet, too!
7. I haven't seen the movie yet.
8. I hope the thief enjoyed the film. (We know from the context it happened last week.)

Present perfect simple

1. Take a look at these pictures. Form one sentence about it in the PPT and one in the PT:

He has just cleaned the window.

He cleaned the windows last week.

We have visited the Great Wall of China once.

We visited the Great Wall of China last summer.

Have you ever tried windsurfing in your life?

I tried windsurfing once when I was by the sea in Croatia.

I have never eaten a hamburger.

When did you last eat a hamburger?
